FRAUDULENT SPECTERS.

PROSECUTING A WOMAN "MEDIUM."

A Queer Case of So-Called Spiritual Manifestations--A Prominent Editor Who Was Badly Taken In and Done For.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.--A thorough exposure of the fraudulent practices of a medium is published in the Chronicle. About three years ago Mrs. Carrie Sawyer, professional materializing medium, of this city, was detected and thoroughly exposed in her fraudulent practices, which resulted in her leaving San Francisco for good. Since then, others of that class, grown bold, have imposed upon credulous persons to a greater extent than ever, and complaints come from honest believers in spiritualism that the ranks are overrun with fraud. A woman calling herself Elsie Reynolds, was recently arrested and held for trial for obtaining money under false pretenses. At one of her materializing seances, held August 8th last, complainant, G. R. Miller, had his suspicions aroused. He determined to discover if there were frauds connected with the alleged materializations of spirits, and the seizing one of the professed ghostly visitants, had uncontrovertible evidence that it was a dummy made up for the occasion. Mrs. Reynolds and others interfered forcibly, so he was not able to retain his hold of the dummy, but, feeling that he and others had been grossly imposed upon, he has brought criminal action against Mrs. Reynolds and assured a reporter that he has ample evidence to secure conviction.

Among the many dupes of this woman is G. F. Parsons, formerly editor of the Sacramento Record-Union, now on the New York Tribune. Parsons a short time ago published in a Philadelphia paper devoted to spiritualism, a letter denouncing Mrs. Reynolds' accusers, and championing her cause, and alleging that he has repeatedly, through her agency, been enabled to see and converse with a beloved daughter who died about a year ago. It is evident that Parsons and his wife were deceived, for Mrs. Nellie Smith, a young woman, confessed that she personated Mrs. Parsons' daughter several times for Mrs. Reynolds, and always did so for her own sences, which Parsons and wife attended. She had one blue dress fixed for this special purpose, which she wore when she was called upon to the cabinet to kiss her daughter, who soon after called him up, and he found he was kissing his own wife.

THE UNITED STATES JAIL.

Trying to Pick Flaws With a "Model Institution."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.--In his annual report to Congress, Attorney General Brewster was pretty severe in his language concerning the administration of justice in the District of Columbia, and the warden of the jail was also placed under fire. It is alleged that the attack on the latter was instigated by Mr. Brewster Cameron, chief special agent of the Department of Justice, who desires to succeed Warden Crocker. The only United States Jail is located here, and it is said to be the model institution of the kind in the country. The position of the Warden is worth but $1,800 per annum, so far as the salary is concerned, but the perquisites are said to be double this sum. One of the guards at the jail is authority for the statement that he was approached by an agent of the Department of Justice who desired to obtain points against the present Warden. He was assured that his communications would be confidential, and in the event of a change he would be retained as a guard if he desired it, and probably promoted. Instead of complying with the proposition the guard promptly reported the conversation to Warden Crocker, whereupon the attention of the Attorney General was invited to the subject, and an investigation is now in progress.

A Sociable Burglar.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 9.--Mr. B. Young, an attorney, was aroused from his sleep by the glare of a light in his face. When he opened his eyes he saw a man standing by his bedside wrapped in a long black coat and wearing a slouch hat down over his face of rather rough gray eyes, which looked straight into his own. In his left hand the man held a dark lantern, and in his right hand a big revolver, which he directed at Mr. Young's head. "Keep quiet," said the man, and then he said that he came for money and wanted to know quickly where to get it. Mr. Young began a chat with the visitor which lasted fifteen minutes. Young had no money except seventy-five cents, which the burglar declined to take. He then became communicative, but kept Young covered with his revolver all the time. "Your police ain't worth a damn," he said. "I could get through any house between College Avenue and Washington street and escape." In the meantime the children were aroused and began to scream. Mr. Young, convinced that his visitor intended no harm other than robbing, told the children to keep quiet. Just then one of the men ran into the room and stopped near the burglar, who placed his hand upon the child's shoulder and told her to get back to bed, as he would not harm her. The child obeyed. Then the burglar, concluding there was nothing to be gained, backed down stairs and withdrew. Mr. Young says his visitor was the coolest man he ever met.

Narrow Escape From a Riot.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Dec. 9.--Quite an excitement was caused on Second avenue, and fears were entertained that a riot would be inaugurated by teamsters. One half of the street is closed up at this point while water pipes are being laid, and Saturday several teamsters refused to move on and let others pass, in consequence of which a blockade nearly a mile in length was caused. The drivers got into an angry dispute, but a number of policemen were sent out and the blockade lifted without serious disturbance.

Major Robbins Retires With a Grievance.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 9.--Major Irving Robbins, Superintendent of the Metropolitan Police, resigned Friday under pressure. He demands a session of the Police Commissioners to consider his resignation. Robbins had grown very overbearing and unpopular, taking the law into his own hands. Captain Long, of the present force, will be his successor.

A BARBAROUS DUEL.

Further Particulars of Last Week's Italian Sensation.

LONDON, Dec. 9.--The duel which was fought near the city of Rome, between Signor Nicotera, formerly Minister of the Interior, and Signor Lovito, Chief Secretary of the Minister of the Interior, was conducted in so unusual and ungentlemanly a manner that the whole affair is condemned in unsparring terms by the Italian press. It seems that as soon as Signor Nicotera was armed, contrary to the established rules of the duel, he seized the adversary's weapon and attempted to take an unfair advantage. Nicotera, instantly realizing his danger and the treachery of the act, cried, "Assassin!" The witnesses instantly drew their swords, closed in on the combatants, and for a few moments a general fight seemed imminent. This scene of confusion was finally ended by the prompt action of Nicotera's friends, who succeeded in extricating their principal from the melee, not, however, until he had been severely wounded in the face and hands. Several of the witnesses state that Lovito wounded Nicotera while he clutched his sword, and after the seconds had cried out to him to stop. During the rush which followed Lovito's extraordinary attempt to kill his opponent, two of the spectators, wounded by the random thrusts which were made in all directions, Signor Lovito's friends are making efforts to suppress particulars of the meeting, and in reference to the grabbing of Nicotera's sword say that it was an accident. They deny that Nicotera was wounded after this occurrence, asserting that he received his wounds in the rally which preceded it.

THE CATTLE PLAGUE.

Reports Regarding Its Ravages Exaggerated.

LAWRENCE, Kan., Dec. 9.--Regarding the cattle plague, a gentleman who has been over Douglas and Jefferson Counties for a couple of days past interviewing the stockmen, finds the disease existing as reported, but says that as yet the disease is doing no alarming damage, not seeming to spread in either of the above counties. Miller, in his paper, the Troy Chief, says: "It seems to be a fact that a fatal disease has got among the cattle in some parts of the State of Kansas. A large number have died in the northern part of this county and parts of Brown. It is a disease of the belly and lungs, and usually takes cattle off very soon after showing signs. One of the Lawrence papers denies the existence of such a disease in the State. There is truth in it, however, and the papers may as well own it, and stir up cattle owners to try and discover the cause and a remedy, instead of trying to suppress the truth until the cattle are all dead. The disease is fatal and spreading, whatever it is. The disease is certainly a peculiar one." A prominent veterinary surgeon of this city, who has been out this week among the sick cattle, reports instances of five animals dying within two hours after taking sick.

NEWSPAPER NEWS.

Remored Changes in the St. Louis Republican.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 9.--It is stated on the authority of gentlemen who are well posted that important changes are about to be made in the office of the Missouri Republican. Gerard B. Allen is about to resign control and is in favor of accepting the resignation of Mr. William Hyde, the present Managing Editor. When this is done Mr. Hyde's place will be filled by Mr. Newton Crane, Mr. Allen's son-in-law. On Thursday last Mrs. Knapp, widow of the late Geo. Knapp, filed her resignation as trustee of the estate, and all heirs-at-law of the deceased joined with Mrs. Knapp in a request to the Court that Gerard B. Allen be appointed in her place. The stock of the Republican is altogether $500,000. When Gerard B. Allen becomes trustee of Knapp's estate he will be able to vote $275,000 of the stock, of which $150,000 will be what belongs to Knapp and $125,000 belonging to the Paschal estate. This gives him a controlling interest.

PREDICTION VERIFIED.

Rough Weather on the Atlantic As For Announcement.

LONDON, Dec. 9.--The prediction received from the weather bureau on the second inst., stating that "several centers of disturbance will effect the British and Norwegian coasts during the week, and that the one arriving between the fifth and eighth is likely to develop dangerous energy," has been amply verified. Small depressions passed over the Northern coasts and Norway during the week, while yesterday the weather completely changed, and a heavy snow storm, which was accompanied by a strong wind, was blowing, and the sea was very rough, indicating a further fulfillment of the latter part of the prediction.

Result of an Old Feud.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Dec. 9.--Saturday night, near Mooreburg, Tom Prater, whose name is at Lenoir's, was killed by John Maxwell. Both the men worked in the quarry near where the killing occurred, and on the night mentioned Maxwell was called upon at his house by Prater and other parties and asked to go to a store near by. He asked who it was called for him, and when informed that it was Prater he went back in the house and returned with a shotgun, which he pointed at Prater and fired. The shot pierced the breast and passing through the body killed Prater instantly. The dead man's body was sent to his city on a freight train and taken to Lenoir's yesterday for burial. Maxwell's act seems to be a very deliberate one, and no doubt was the culmination of an old feud between the parties.

Recherche Affair Near Chicago.

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.--Out at an old tavern in the Brighton Road, Saturday evening, Jerry Donohue, twenty-seven years old, weighing 160 pounds, and Richard Cuddy, twenty-eight years old, weighing 150 pounds, shielded their faces under a specially improvised ring. The arrangements were for a fight at 2200 lbs. Marquis of Queensbury rules, and an attendant ruffian was chosen referee. It speedily degenerated into a fistfight and Cuddy fought it out in one round by whipping Donohue badly and pounding his face a few blows.

MAGLINTY LOSES TEETH

AND LIKEWISE THE STAKE MONEY.

Agreeable Social Event in a Chicago Stable--"The Ferret" and Another Eminent Animal Slug Each Other.

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.--The dimly lighted floor of an up town stable was the scene of a hard glove fight between Pat Maglnty and Phil Brogden, a colored man. Around the ring about sixty well known sporting characters assembled paying five dollars a head for the privilege of witnessing the mill. Brogden, better known as "the Ferret," was the winner of three fights previous to the one he won last night, while Maglnty is a new light in the arena. Both men are feather weights and the stakes were seventy-five dollars a side. In the first round Maglnty showed considerable pluck and good science, but was easily subdued by his antagonist. In the second round Pat received a frightful left hander in the month, which split his upper lip and knocked out three front teeth. Time was called, and in the third round both men fought hard for an "opener," and Pat sent a left hander straight from the shoulder at Brogden's head, but missed the mark, and received in return a cross cut that sent him whirling over the rope. When the fourth round was called Maglnty failed to see the mark and "the Ferret" was declared an easy winner. Time, thirteen minutes. Betting was heavy, and a considerable amount changed hands.

A Pair of Italian Duelling Cranks Poke at Each Other With Swords.

ROME, Dec. 9.--A duel with swords was fought at 11 o'clock Friday morning at a place a few miles outside this city, the combatants being Signor Nicotera, formerly Minister of the Interior, and Signor Lovito, Secretary of the Ministry of the Interior. They fought furiously but somewhat wildly. Lovito received a cut in the arm, while Nicotera was wounded in the face and hand. The seconds then separated the duellists. Lovito, who had been grossly insulted by Nicotera, accepted the result of the meeting as an ample vindication of his honor.

Why a Postmaster Was Removed.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.--The postmaster at Brightest, Md., was on Friday removed. This action was based upon a report of an Inspector who was sent to investigate the cause of the great increase in the business of the office, which had advanced from $20 per quarter to $300. The Inspector found that this was due to the fact that Mr. Suit had sent his mail from that office, and had entered into an agreement with the Postmaster to share the commission derived from the cancellation of the stamps. The same man, by withdrawing his mail from a neighboring office, had reduced it from the Presidential rank to a fourth class office.

A Swindler Nabbed.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 9.--A special despatch from Helena, Mont., says: During the month of October a man representing himself as Post Office Inspector Henderson, and afterward, as Inspector Henderson, visited the postoffices between Miles City and Helena and swindled officials and banks. On Friday of last week, Assistant Superintendent Jameson, of the Railway Mail Service, spotted him at Missoula, and on Thursday last caused his arrest. The swindler gave the name of S. W. Scott, and the authorities were requested to hold him. After Montana is through with him, he is wanted by Inspector Stuart, of Chicago.

The Nickle Plate and the Passenger Pool.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 9.--General Passenger Agent Ford, of the Pennsylvania Company, who has returned from Chicago, was interviewed regarding the action of the Nickle Plate Road in withdrawing from East-Bound Passenger Pool. He declared that the Nickle Plate Road was not in the passenger pool at all. The Nickle Plate, he says, uses the Lake Shore track from Chicago to Cleveland, and is controlled by the New York Central, a Vanderbilt road, and, as both the Lake Shore and the New York Central are in the pool, the Nickle Plate could do nothing that would interfere with either of them.

A Poor Place to Get Work.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Dec. 9.--It is stated on good authority that there is a larger number of workmen, clerks, book-keepers, etc., out of employment in Pittsburgh at the present time than have been known since the worst of the years following the panic of 1873. An advertisement in a daily newspaper for male help of any kind brings hundreds of responses. Not only are the large manufacturing establishments in many instances reducing their forces of workmen, but mercantile establishments are doing likewise, so that the army of unemployed is daily receiving large accessions.

An Indian Row Satisfactorily Settled.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.--The trouble in the Creek Indian Nation, which caused the calling out of troops last summer, then the appointment of a Commission to arrange peace, and finally of an election, is now put at an end by the inauguration of Chief Perryman. This took place yesterday, and, according to a dispatch received at the Indian Office from agent Taft, all was satisfactory. He further adds that Isparache and Chicota, rival candidates, had been chosen delegates to Washington and thus all factions were pleased.

THE BRUSSELS FIRE.

Two Dead Bodies Taken From the Ruins of the Burned Palace.

BRUSSELS, Dec. 9.--Up to a late hour Friday afternoon two corpses had been taken from the ruins of the palace of the Legislative Chamber, and it is feared that others are buried beneath the debris. Several firemen, dangerously wounded, are lying in the hospital, two of whom it is said cannot recover. The building and contents were uninsured.

The Convivial Deity at Columbus.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 9.--William Bachus, President of the Ohio Liquor Dealers' League, is in the city making arrangements for a meeting of the liquor interests at the Grand Opera House here December 27 and 28. The object of the meeting is to formulate an expression of what they desire from the Legislature. It is thought that a repeal or radical modification of the Scott law will be asked. Four hundred delegates are expected.

OUT OF THE DRIFTS.

Arrival of Kansas Pacific Snow-Bound Train at Denver.

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 9.--The snow-bound Kansas Pacific passenger train, which was announced as being unheard from arrived here after having been beleaguered in the drifts for thirty-six hours. The passengers fared comparatively well, although they tell many sensational stories of how they foraged for food and water with which to appease their hunger. The engine struck the first drift on Wednesday evening beyond Deer Trail, about 100 miles from Denver. The passengers, among whom were the Aldermen of Denver, who had been on an excursion, assisted the trainmen, and the snow was dug away sufficiently for the engine to butt its way through it. Five miles further on the engine stuck perfectly fast. For a mile ahead the tracks appeared to be hopelessly covered. Preparations were made to stay there all night, or until assistance arrived. The express car was entered, and everything of an edible nature made use of. During the night the water gave out, and the next day passed, and the situation was indeed becoming critical. About midnight the headlight of an engine was seen advancing. It was a relief party from Denver. Three engines and snow plows were used in cutting through the heavy snowbanks, and an hour or two later the snow-bound party was released. The coal on the beleaguered train had given out, and had not the relief came when it did the passengers would have suffered.

A PREACHER'S NECK IN DANGER.

The Men of Carondelet Ready to Lynch the Rev. Jacob Schlitter.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 9.--Since Carondelet was made a city its people were not more incensed than they were when the doings of the Rev. Jacob Schlitter were laid bare before them. Had he been in the city, instead of safe with his stepdaughter Annie in Chicago, he would have been given a taste of lynch law, for the girl's brother Fred was there as a leader, and when the truth was made known to him he vowed vengeance on the girl's betrayer and swore to kill him did he ever returned to Carondelet. Hundreds of his friends indorsed his sentiments and promised to give him a helping hand.

Since yesterday's developments it has been found that the preacher was in the habit of bringing Annie to St. Louis, and after these visits she always returned home loaded down with presents, which she said had been given her by her stepfather. The latter's wife is still his friend, and claims that his conduct towards his stepdaughter was wholly due to spiritualistic influences, and that when he led her astray he was unconscious of wrong doing. Officers, armed with a warrant for Schlitter's arrest, are still looking for that individual, and if he is returned to Carondelet he will certainly be lynched.

TOO PROSPEROUS.

What a Stroke of Fortune Did for John Mackey.

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.--John Mackey, a middle-aged Scotchman, presented to the cashier for foreign exchange at the Union National Bank, a draft for $2,500 on a London house, purporting to be drawn in his favor by N. K. Fairbank & Co., of this city, saying he wanted to exchange for a draft on a New York house. The cashier delayed Mackey while he sent a messenger to the office of N. K. Fairbank & Co. to inquire if the draft was all right. A reply came quickly back that it was a forgery. Mackey was immediately arrested and taken to the Harrison Police Station. As soon as he was arrested Mackey pretended to be very drunk and refused to answer questions. The prisoner is a married man, and lives at South Evanston. For a long time he was bookkeeper for N. K. Fairbank & Co. Eight months ago he received a legacy from Scotland. This piece of good fortune drove him to dissipation, and the firm contemplated discharging him, but he resigned.

The Terrible Tramp.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Dec. 9.--A person giving the name of Jack Taylor called at the residence of Mr. H. Hodges, a farmer a few miles south of the city, and asked for his dinner. Mr. Hodges told him that dinner was not ready, and if he would wait till he got another load of fodder he could have dinner. While Hodges had gone for the fodder Taylor insisted on having dinner at once, and began to abuse Mrs. Hodges, using vile epithets, and finally he jerked out a revolver and shot at Mrs. Hodges, though luckily the bullet went wide of its mark and Mrs. Hodges escaped unhurt. Taylor then fled. He was subsequently arrested at Joliet. Public feeling ran high, and had he not been hustled off he would have been severely dealt with.

Drowned at a Ford.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Dec. 9.--Information has been received here of the accidental death by drowning of Elder J. Wrightsman, in Swan Creek, near Chadwick, Terrell County. He was crossing the stream, which was swollen by rains in the back country, when the team, being unable to pull against the current, he got out and mounted one of the horses. The horse stumbled and threw him off. At last accounts his body had not been recovered. Mr. Wrightsman was a preacher, writer and a wealthy man, and President of the bank at Harper, Kansas. He had been to Forsyth to look after county bonds in his possession, recently refunded. He was about seventy years old.

Turned on His Pals.

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 9.--A. J. Oshields was arrested in Chattanooga for having in possession a stolen watch. He was brought here on requisition, and has confessed to the Chief of Police that he planned the burglary of Aske's saloon two weeks ago, in which $4,000 were taken. The money, he says, is secreted in the city. He implicates Joe Denham, Bill Trip and Sharper Conley, young men about town, as his accomplices in the crime. They were arrested and identified by him. Developments as to other burglaries are promised.

Test Liquor Cases.

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 9.--Under the Sunday liquor law, Fred Dieboldt, a prominent liquor dealer, was fined $100 and given ten days in the work-house for keeping open saloon on Sunday. This was in the Police Court. Judge McKinney, of the Court of Common Pleas, has rendered several decisions, holding that the law does not presume a saloon to be open for the purpose of selling liquor, but that it must be shown that the place was open for business.

CHEROKEE TROUBLES.

Serious Accusations That Are Apparently Without Foundation.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.--At the last session of Congress $200,000 was appropriated for the Cherokee Indians. It is now charged by Colonel E. C. Boudinot, a Cherokee half-breed, that Mr. Phillip, the Cherokee Representative here, has failed to turn in $22,500 of that amount, and that when pressed he said that the money was paid Secretary Teller and Senator Dawes to influence legislation. Secretary Teller and Senator Dawes both deny the story. Indian Commissioner Price says Mr. Phillip could not have handled the money, as it was deposited by requisition in the St. Louis Sub-Treasury. Mr. Phillip says: "I have not spoken to Boudinot in eleven years, and I understand that he has not been at the Capital of the Cherokee Nation since 1880. Of course I had nothing to do with the payment of that money, as it was paid to a bonded officer, who, I have no doubt, can account for every cent of it. I don't care to notice such things, as I have made a rule for some years past not to do so."

SOUTHERN POLITICAL TROUBLES.

Bitter Feeling Against Representatives of the Government.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Dec. 9.--In the United States Court yesterday the trial of Bethia and six other white Democrats of Marion County was begun. The defendants are charged with breaking up a Greenbacker meeting at Marion, in November, 1882, and mobbing Hendrix McLane, Independent candidate for Governor, and Bowen, Greenback candidate for Congress. Defendants' counsel raised the point that the case could not be tried upon a mere information filed by the District Attorney, but that an indictment should have been found by the Grand Jury. The point was argued on both sides, but Judge Bond reserved his decision. The District Attorney regards this as the Government's strongest case and is confident that three or more of the defendants will be convicted. Public feeling against the Government officers is still intensely bitter.

A BEAST SHOT.

Persecuting a Walter Girl Until He Made Her Desperate.

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.--A single shot from a revolver in the hands of a desperate girl startled the guests of the Briggs House Friday evening and will result in the death of Patrick Kinsley, head waiter of the hotel. Sadie Ray, aged twenty-two, a modest, prepossessing young woman, has been employed as waitress for some months and claims to have been continually subjected to the most insulting advances by Kinsley, whose position gave him many opportunities for so doing. After being refused time and again, Kinsley had become foully abusive and on Friday, just before supper, he met Sadie in the dining hall and called her a vile name. Sadie drew a pistol and shot her traducer in the head, inflicting a mortal wound. There is much sympathy for the girl.

GONE WRONG.

Mr. Barnard, of Philadelphia, Follows in the Footsteps of so Many Others.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 9.--The fact has just become known to the members of the Commercial Exchange that Frank Barnard, of the flour and grain commission firm of Barnard & Roberts, had suddenly left the city on Tuesday evening, leaving behind him many creditors. It was found upon investigation that his accounts with his partner were in an ugly shape. Several entries in the firm's check book, when compared with the checks actually paid by the bank, revealed it, it is said, the appropriation of nearly $4,000 of the firm's money, which it is believed Barnard has taken with him in addition to other sums realized from other and unknown sources previous to his flight. No man had a better reputation on "Change than Mr. Barnard until his recent flight became known.

Extraordinary Case of Burglary.

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 9.--Six masked burglars entered the residence of Horace and Martin Allen, wealthy bachelors, at Newton Falls, two weeks ago, and after brutally beating and gagging them, secured several thousand dollars' worth of plunder. Friday night the detectives lodged in jail a well-to-do farmer and stock dealer named James P. Baldwin, of Trumbull County, as one of the robbers. Baldwin has a wife and family. The arrest has caused much excitement, and other sensational arrests will follow to-day.

Flemming and Loring Found Guilty.

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.--The jury in Judge Blodgett's United States Court on Friday brought in a verdict of guilty as to Fleming and Loring, two of the "Fund W" commission swindlers. The Judge granted a motion for a new trial and an arrest of judgment, fixing the bail of each at $10,000, which was furnished, the notorious Mike McDonald being, however, refused as one of the bondsmen.

Dullness in the Iron Trade.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 9.--In an interview with Andrew Carnegie, the great steel rail and iron manufacturer, he said, in all probability his extensive rail and steel mills, at Bessemer, the largest in the country, will shut down shortly for lack of sufficient orders. He says there is scarcely a mill now with a week's order ahead, and his remarks portray a very gloomy outlook among the iron dealers.

Yale College and Typhoid Fever.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 9.--President Porter, of Yale College, Friday convened the students and said there had been an investigation and there had been no fatal cases of typhoid fever contracted in the University. He charged them to be very careful as to the temperature of their rooms and as to clothing, and said the sewerage of the building was perfect and that no danger need be apprehended.

The Manitoba Boundary Dispute.

OTTAWA, Can., Dec. 9.--Attorney General Miller, of Manitoba, and Mowatt, Premier of Ontario, arrived here Thursday night, and Friday submitted a proposition to the Dominion Government with a view to the boundary line between the two provinces being definitely settled. Whatever understanding is arrived at, matters will have to be confirmed by the Imperial Government.

THE President of the Workingmen's Association at Lynn, Mass., calls for a national convention of the National Workingmen's party and the nomination of candidates for President and Vice President.

SILVER has accumulated in the vaults of the U. S. Sub-Treasury in New York to the amount of $23,000,000. There is room for only $1,000,000 more. More than three-fourths of the silver is represented by silver certificates.

It is thought at Washington that the House Committee on Ways and Means will be increased from thirteen to fifteen members, and will be composed of nine Revenue Reformers, one Protection Democrat and five Republicans to keep him from feeling lonely in strange company.

MRS. VAUGHN HILTON, widow of the man murdered by John Barnett and his party in Montgomery county last year, has recovered a verdict of $3,000 against Barnett and others for damages. The defendants are in the penitentiary, but have real estate and other property in the mountains.

GEORGIA is the only Southern State that pensions maimed Confederate soldiers. Those who have lost a leg above the knee receive $100; below the knee, $75; arm above the elbow, $60; below the elbow, $40. These payments are now being made by order of the Governor, under an act of the Legislature.

JOHN P. LEEDOM, the choice for Sergeant-at-Arms, resides at West Union, O., and was clerk of Adams county, six years, elected first in 1874. In 1880, was elected to Congress from the Seventh Ohio district, but the Republican gerrymader of the State, in 1882, placed Adams county in a strongly Republican district, and deprived him of a second term.

The natural gas that flows from the oil wells of Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia has long been used for fuel and light in the manufacturing towns of that section, and the supply is much greater than the demand. A project is now on foot to convey the gas by pipes to Philadelphia and Baltimore for heating and lighting purposes. The scheme is in the hands of enterprising men, with plenty of capital behind them, and the laying of pipes will begin shortly.

NOVEMBER 30 there were in the Kentucky penitentiary four hundred and seventy-nine convicts, of which two hundred and twenty-seven were white males, two hundred and twenty-two colored males, two white females and twenty-eight colored females. The terms of sentence are: one to two years, seventy; two to three years, seventy-three; three to four years, thirty; four to five years, nineteen; five to ten years, eighty-six; ten to fifteen years, forty-five; fifteen to twenty years, twenty; twenty to thirty years, thirty-eight; for life, ninety-one.

A Miscalculation.

Texas Siftings.

"Did you ever have your fortune told?" inquired an Austin woman of one of her most intimate friends.

"No, did you?"

"Yes, I was down to a clairvoyant's yesterday evening. Did you know there was one in town?"

"No."

"Well, there is, and she just spread out her eucure deck and told my fortune as sick as a whistle."

"What did the clairvoyant say was going to happen to you?"

"She said I was going to marry a nobleman and become a maid of honor."

"Become a maid of honor! Why, you must forget yourself. You know you are a married woman."

"That's so," answered the woman, dejectedly. "I forgot all about that and got the old harpion to lay the cards out for a widow. It is funny how such little things will slip out of a person's memory. I shall have to go down and get the clairvoyant woman to do it all over again."

QUICKLY WOULD THE SHADOWS FLEE.

[Mary Torrence in Demorest's Monthly.]

If you should come all suddenly
And let the soft, sweet glory of your eyes
Light up the darkness of this sombre room,
And chase away the dreariness of this day of gloom.

And grace it with the dawning of a glad surprise,
How quickly would the shadows flee,
And looking out, amazed, I'd say:
"O beautiful, bright, happy day,
How could I think you dark and cold,
When in your heart, such joy you hold,
O fair, sweet day!"

If o'er this heavy, dingy tome
Your gentle hand should wander swift,
How quickly would each leaf be edged with gold,
And every shining page would hold
A message sweeter than a fairy gift,
And down through long dead years would come

The far faint echo of the sage's vow.
In music sweeter than the world hath known,
And looking up surprised I'd say:
"I wonder why this gloomy day,
So fair hath grown."

If while the wind is making moan
Through leafless branches of the trees,
And I am trying, all in vain,
To shut away the sob of pain,
Your voice came floating on the breeze,
How would its long-remembered tone,
In music sweet fall on my ear,
And I no more the moan would hear,
But your voice my heart would fill
With its music and its thrill
And its echoes clear.

ELI PERKINS' BOOK AGENT.

A Short Narrative Embracing a Remarkable Chain of Circumstances.

[New York Star.]

A Philadelphia book agent imported James Watson, a rich and close New York man, living out at Elizabeth, until he bought a book—the "Early Christian Martyrs." Mr. Watson didn't want the book, but he bought it to get rid of the agent; then taking it under his arm, he started for the train which takes him to his New York office.

Mr. Watson hadn't been gone long before Mrs. Watson came home from a neighbor's. The book agent saw her, and went in and persuaded the wife to buy another copy of the same book. She was ignorant of the fact that her husband had bought the same book in the morning. When Mr. Watson came back from New York at night Mrs. Watson showed him the book.

"I don't want to see it," said Watson, frowning terribly.

"Why, husband?" asked his wife.

"Because that rascally book agent sold me the same book this morning. Now we've got two copies of the same book—two copies of the 'Early Christian Martyrs,' and—"

"But, husband, we can—"

"No, we can't, either!" interrupted Mr. Watson. "That man is off on the train before we can get to the depot now."

"Why, there he goes to the depot now," said Mrs. Watson, pointing out of the window at the retreating form of the book agent making for the train.

"But it's too late to catch him, and I'm not dressed. I've taken off my boots and—"

Just then Mr. Stevens, a neighbor of Mr. Watson, drove by, when Watson pounced on the window-pane in a frantic manner, almost frightening the horse.

"Here, Stevens!" he shouted, "you're hitched up; won't you run your horse down to the train and hold that book agent till I come! Run! Catch 'im now!"

"All right," said Mr. Stevens, whipping up his horse and tearing down the road.

Mr. Stevens reached the train just as the conductor shouted "all aboard!"

"Book agent!" he yelled, as the book agent stepped on to the train. "Book agent! hold on! Mr. Watson wants to see you."

"Watson! Watson wants to see me!" repeated the seemingly puzzled book agent.

"Oh, I know what he wants! he wants to buy one of my books; but I can't miss the train to sell it to him."

"If that is all he wants," said Mr. Stevens, driving up to the car window, "I can pay for it and take it back to him. How much is it?"

"Two dollars for the 'Early Christian Martyrs,'" said the book agent, as he reached for the money and passed the book out through the car window.

Just then Mr. Watson arrived, puffing and blowing, in his shirt sleeves. As he saw the train pull out he was too full for utterance.

"Well, I got it for you," said Stevens; "just got it, and that's all."

"Got what?" yelled Watson.

"Why, I got the book—'Early Christian Martyrs,' and—"

"By—the—great—guns!" moaned Watson, as he placed his hand to his brow and swooned right in the middle of the street.

A Man With a Silver Skull.

[Chicago Times.]

One of the queerest curiosities on the globe is a man with a silver skull who is now visiting in Louisville, Ky. During a fiercely contested battle in the late war this interesting individual was struck in the head with a piece of shell, which tore away the entire top of his skull, leaving the brain most horribly exposed. Strange to say, he survived the terrible wound and a noted surgeon who was one of the physicians in attendance upon the late lamented Garfield, succeeded in fitting a silver plate over the opening which shielded the brain, equally as well as the skull. This plate is about the size of a man's hand and works on hinges, and may be raised up and down at will. The re-skulled man does not experience the least pain, and as he wears a wig all evidence of a shattered skull is concealed.

A Hint on Chimneys.

[Industrial Chronicle.]

It is well known that the round form is the best for chimneys in workshops. It facilitates the escape of the smoke and gives less hold for the wind, besides requiring less material for construction. Round chimneys are, however, difficult to build, and in some places the want of workmen to make the round kind has compelled the adoption of square or octagonal forms. To obviate this a European firm makes bricks in the shape of wedges and corresponding with the radius which the chimney is to have.

An Unfortunate Brick Making Firm.

NEW RICHMOND, O., Dec. 9.—At 4 a. m. Friday a fire broke out in the heating department of the brick yards of J. Milton Blair & Son. It spread rapidly, and when it was discovered the flames had made such headway that it was impossible to check, much less extinguish them, and, notwithstanding the heroic fight made against the flames by the employees, the entire establishment burned down. This was one of the most extensive brick yards in the West. The baking departments were complete in every particular, and brick could be turned out when the thermometer was below zero. The entire establishment was worth about $15,000; insurance, $6,000. The firm lost last February, by water, $12,000. A few weeks since J. M. Blair, senior member of the firm, died, so that the firm has been singularly unfortunate this year.

Do not be deceived by the representation that the hog is useful in Maysville as a scavenger, for the beast is not a scavenger at all, but, on the contrary, is a distributor of filth. Suppose a rotten cabbage is thrown into the street and is consumed by a hog, what becomes of it? If you will go around the corner to the next street half an hour later you will find out.

The following sensible advice is given by the Ashland Express: One of the best ways to build our city is to spend our money at home. If you want anything from your merchant which he has not got, have him to order it for you. Thousands of dollars are sent away from the city that ought to be spent right here. Every dollar that you spend here is practically that much laid out toward building up your town. It matters not what the business may be, if it offers you just as good inducements to lay out your money at home as you are offered elsewhere; it is your duty to patronize your own citizens. We are all dependent beings and we should try to be a mutual help to one another. Keep your dollars at home.

Proceedings of the Democratic Convention, Precinct No. 2.

In obedience to the call of the Executive Committee, the Democrats of Precinct No. 2 assembled at their usual place of meeting last Saturday. The meeting was harmonious from beginning to end. Hon. G. Was it Suicide?
Cincinnati Post.

Yesterday morning about 7:30, as a boy named Wm. Smith was passing along the river front, he came across a high-colored plush cloak and turban hid near the water's edge, at the foot of Smith street, where it had evidently been left by "one more unfortunate," who last night probably took the plunge in the cold water of the Ohio. The cloak was taken to the third street station-house, where on being searched, the following love missive was found. It was evidently written by one by whom the poor creature had been wronged, as the tone would imply:

DEAR ALLIE: I thought I would write you a note to see if you would answer it or not. But you will, I know, and I know that you will let the past be the past, and forgive me for treating you the way I did. I could not help it at the time. But, love, I know the time will come when I and you will, happy be, and I hope that soon the time will come. Allie, you are on my mind all the time, day and night. Now, please, Allie, say I come and see you soon? Now, Allie as yet loving, I must confess I do. You know it, and if the love can be retraced please let me hear from you soon. And, Allie, I heard that you went to Maysville. Did you go to see—Hancock? or what did he say about me? Well, I will close for this time by saying I am your friend till death.
J. E. McDONALD.

The note was written in a poor hand, with blue pencil, on a sheet torn from a small pocket account-book, and many of the words were misspelled. The mystery surrounding the affair is great, as no one in the vicinity remembers seeing a person wearing the cloak and hat. Who McDonald is unknown, but time may clear up the mystery and may not.

We have ascertained that the woman referred to above lived at Cincinnati, and was not a resident of Maysville as rumor had it. Nothing is known of her here beyond the fact that her name was "Allie."

The Indianapolis News asks: "Will some philosopher or statistician or physiologist, explain why it is that but 4,831 men of the war of 1812 survive, while there are 21,336 widows of soldiers of that war surviving?" In the year 1836-7 I lived in the swamps of Mississippi, Kentucky Bend and Lake Washington. The Johnsons, Flournoys, Millers and Smiths were the chief farmers, and great sportsmen and hunters. Their greatest loss was in dogs, believing it to be for the want of dog-fennel. They had the banks of Lake Washington sowed with fennel seed. Still the dogs died, except the large number the alligators got, which was very trying on the patience of the sportsmen. Captain Henry Johnson said, "Men and dogs all die here in the swamps; and women and cats are never sick. Every other farm belongs to a widow, and they will soon own them all." And these were soldiers of the war of 1812.

When Horace Greeley visited Utah, the saints told him that there were more girls than boys in Mormondom, which they argued was a sign of God's approval of polygamy. The latest statistics, however, show that of the births in the church during the last six months 1,200 were male and 1,100 female. Moreover, the last census shows that there were then in the Territory 24,932 males under ten years and 23,702 females.

Nothing Like It.
No medicine has ever been known so effectual in the cure of all those diseases arising from an impure condition of the blood as Scovill's Sarsaparilla, or blood and liver syrup, for the cure of scrofula, white swellings, rheumatism, pimples, blotches, eruptions, venereal sores and diseases, consumption, goitre, boils, cancers, and all kindred diseases. No better means of securing a beautiful complexion can be obtained than by using Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup, which cleanses the blood and gives beauty to the skin.

SECRETARY TELLER has affirmed the decision of the Commissioner of the General Land Office in the case of K. M. Griffin, declining to patent his claim upon the Colonel Hall Lode, Central City, Colorado, on the ground that it was not continuous as required by law.

THE Treasurer of Lee County, Iowa, David W. Blackburn, is $12,330 short. On Saturday he handed in a statement of his books to a member of the Board of Supervisors. He claims that he is entirely in the dark as to the cause of the shortage. The former Treasurer was charged with appropriating county funds, and his Deputy was sent to the Penitentiary for three years.

GOVERNOR IRELAND, Attorney General Templeton, and several other prominent men of Texas scout the idea that a suit is soon to be brought in the United States Court of Claims to recover the value of slaves emancipated during the war. They consider the scheme a very foolish one, and, if any body is engaged in it, which is regarded as doubtful, it is for political purposes.

THE PEORIA MYSTERY.

No Clue to the Identity of the Murdered Woman.

PEORIA, Ill., Dec. 9.—The body of a handsome woman was found floating in the river about three miles north of this city. She had abundant, coal black hair, clear cut features, and white teeth. She had on a portion of a basque and an undergarment. Her body remained in the morgue unidentified until Saturday, when the coroner's jury was summoned. The county physician made an examination of the remains. He states that the body could not have been in the water more than forty-eight hours. The body shows that the woman had been a victim of an abortion or miscarriage, and that it had been of recent occurrence. This leaves little doubt that she was thrown into the river by interested parties, or was the victim of suicide through remorse or disappointed love. The remarkable appearance of the woman would seem to indicate that she was one whose presence would be missed in any community. In life she must have been stately and handsome, and in death her form resembled a piece of statuary. She was perfectly formed in feature and limb, with black hair reaching to the waist, and teeth of uncommon purity and regularity. The fact that she was clothed in a night dress would indicate that she had prepared for rest, and perhaps was in slumber when she was aroused to meet her death.

He Used a Policeman's Club.

KEYPORT, N. J., Dec. 9.—Dr. O. C. Bogardus, a popular dentist here, recently did some work for the wife of John K. Snow, who keeps a restaurant here. As Dr. Bogardus was walking along Front street, Snow sprang from behind a tree, exclaiming:

"What did you say to my wife?" Almost before the Doctor had time to reply Snow struck him several times on the shoulder and arm with a policeman's club. The dentist hurried to his house and came forth with a revolver, but Snow had disappeared. Snow claims that Bogardus insulted his wife, and on that account he sought vengeance. Snow was arrested, and gave bail in $500 to keep the peace.

Shot While Hunting.

MARSHALL, Mo., Dec. 9.—Two little boys named Mitchell and a third named Brown were out hunting near Walnut Grove, a few miles east of this city. In the excitement occasioned by the discovery of some birds young Brown and one of the Mitchell boys fired at the same time, and just as they fired the other Mitchell stepped between them and the game, receiving a charge of shot in his body killing him instantly. The shooting was accidental.

Carried Off by a Bear.

APPLETON, Wis., Dec. 9.—A number of citizens of Cicero and Lessor, in Shawano County, are scouring the woods in the hope of finding at least some traces of the sixteen-months' old daughter of Frank Kline, a prominent farmer. The little child, while playing in front of Kline's house, was carried off by a bear. The child's screams were heard by Mrs. Kline. Aid was summoned and farm hands started in pursuit, but lost sight of the animal in the woods.

A Railroad Accident.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Dec. 9.—Three coaches, two baggage cars, and two sleepers of the west-bound Chicago and Northwestern passenger train were thrown from the track by a broken rail two miles east of Stanwood Saturday night. Of fifteen passengers on the train only a few were injured, and only one severely, that being a detective named Healy.

Attacked by a Lunatic.

OWENSBURG, Ky., Dec. 9.—An unknown man entered the house of E. Clark, near this place, early on Saturday, and attacked his daughter with a club. He was killed by Henry Bumpers, who was stopping in the house. There was a picture on his person taken in Sweden, but nothing to reveal his identity.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE
The Most Successful Remedy ever discovered as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. Read proof below.

Kendall's Spavin Cure.
SANTA ROSA, California, Feb. 9, 1883.
B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—I feel it a duty to others suffering with the piles and falling of the rectum to write to you. I have had the piles and prolapsus of the rectum for five years, for the past three years I have suffered the most agonizing pain. I tried everything without relief, but after ten days' use of Kendall's Spavin Cure, I have not seen or heard of the piles since. One who has not suffered as I have cannot comprehend the great joy that I felt at being cured of a disease almost worse than death. I had a valuable young horse that had a large bunch gather on his breast bone. I tried all kinds of liniments and had it cut open without any benefit. Saw your advertisement and bought a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and ordered my transfer to use as directed. In less than one week the lump had disappeared. Thinking that a liniment that would do what Kendall's Spavin Cure has done for my horse might benefit more. I tried it as a last resort. With gratitude and best wishes for your success, I am faithfully yours,
J. H. GLENN.

Kendall's SPAVIN CURE
On HUMAN Flesh.
VEVAY, IND., Aug. 12th, 1881.
DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co.—Gents: Sample of circular is forwarded to-day. Please send me some with my imprint, printed on one side only. The Kendall's Spavin Cure is in excellent demand with us, and not only for animals, but for human ailments also. Mr. Jos. Norris, one of the leading farmers in our county, sprained an ankle badly, and knowing the value of the remedy for horses, tried it on himself, and it did far better than he had expected. Cured the sprain in very short order.
Yours respectfully,
C. C. THURMAN.

MAYSVILLE, KY.

THE MINISTER WHO FAILS to interest his congregation and build up his church is generally accused of being a poor preacher, or of not studying hard enough. That is not always where the trouble comes from. Dyspepsia and liver disorders are responsible for many a dull sermon and many a vacant pulpit. When the Dominie's digestive apparatus is working wrong and his nerves are giving him pain, and his brain refuses to do its duty, it is almost impossible to make or to preach a good sermon. Give your suffering minister a bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters. You will see its effect on next Sunday's preaching. The Rev. Mr. Zehring, of Codorus, Pa., was paralyzed, and could not walk except with crutches, until Brown's Iron Bitters made a new man of him. The Rev. Mr. White, of Rock Hill, S. C., says: "It restored me to strength and vigor." Brown's Iron Bitters is not only for the minister, but for all people.
